Horse Thief Convicted .-- John Berry, alias John Wetzel, was convicted in the Circuit Court of this county, last week, of stealing a horse from Mr. Cline, in the month of July, and his term of imprisonment fixed at five years. Having already served a term in the Penitentiary, the law doubles the penalty for his recent offence, and he will therefore remain in Richmond ten years. He was convicted of horse stealing in Winchester, in 1857, and spent one year in the Penitentiary. From the large number of horses which have disappeared from this county in the last few months, it is suspected that there has been a band of men engaged in running them off. -Standon Spectator.

W. H. Fowle, President of the Association, presided, and G. K. Witmer, and R. Bell, Jr., acted as Secretaries.

The exercises were opened with the singing of a beautiful and appropriate hymn by the children of the Association's Sunday School, led by S. H. Devaughn. A fervent and impressive prayer was next offered up by Rev. C. H. Bitting, after which the children sang another hymn to the delight of

W. H. Fowle then made an oral report of the operations of the Association for the past year, which embraces in the main the same field heretofore occupied by them, prefacing his report with some very feeling and impressive remarks, and most happily referring to the presence of so many ministers of the Gospel, of different denominations.

An interesting new feature, and the only new feature connected with the operations of the Association, is the Female Industrial ted, and read as follows:

Report of the 1st Directors to the Ladies' Indus-Twelve months have now clapsed since a number of Ladies actuated by a sincere and ardent de-sire, to do what they considered their duty to God, and to their fellow-beings, embarked in this enterprise, and it is meet, and right, on this first anniversary of our Society, to refer to its origin. idea was suggested by a gentleman of this city, who manifested a doep interest in the welfare an improvement of a class of our rex, who have not yet passed the period of childhood; to enable them to obtain habits of industry.) by which means they may gain an honest livelihood, and thereby save them from want and crime: (for poverty often causes the commission of crime.) Many are pelled to endure the pangs of poverty, and to pass their childhood in the midst of moral pollution. wto are innocent of the cause of their present afferings; and the heart must beat with sympathy for them, and they must be rescued from thes great evils- for it is hardly necessary to say, that the welfare of the next generation will greatly on the manner in which the females of the present are educated; so that they may discharge mothers. measure, and the great amount of good which would result from it, carried conviction to many minds so a Constitution was adopted, and we came a regularly organized Society, under the name of the "Ladies' Industrial School Association." Managers were then appointed to obtain contributions in all the Wards of the city, and to ollect the children from their humble and poverty stricken abodes, and on the 2nd of November the School opened with 50 pupils. Since then they have increased, and the number on the roll is 150. Besides the instruction in sewing, the teachers en deavor to inspire the children with sentiments of self respect, and of moral and religious duty, and by being placed in direct relation with refined and cultivated minds, they can not fail to be benefit ted. Since the parents have become acquainted with the character of the School, they have gene rally expressed a desire that our efforts should be continued, and the children were opposed to any cessation, even during the Summer months. that we have reason to rejoice and feel satisfied withour efforts. With regard to the specimens of needle work completed in our Industrial School, there has been a manifest improvement. Many who were unskilled in the use of the needle, have made garments, to whom they were invariably

Who can enter our Sewing Room and see these little girls, (about one hundred and fifty in number,) busy plying the needle, and listening to the exellent advice which is imparted by their teachers, without a feeling of intense pleasure. It is here they forget their cares, (for even childhood has i cures among the poor,) each smiling face is turned with love and gratitude on those who do them good. It is all they have to give. It was decided in the beginning of last Decem ber, the children should have a Christmas festival, the expenses of which were defrayed by the teachers. A room was kindly loaned, and a lofty cedar tree was there placed, from whose pendant branches, hung the donations, and many beautiful decorations. About 150 children, including those f the Orphan Asylum, were present.

After singing a Christmas hymn and bearing most excellent addresses from Messrs, James S. Hallowell and Sylvester Scott, each little heart was made happy by an appropriate gift. They passed a delightful hour, and after a prayer by the Rev. Mr. Brown, they went to their homes with a vivid idea of the joys of Christmas-and to use the words of the gifted author of the Christmas Carol "May they again Carol joyfully-Carol for the oming of Christ's nativity.

"Give them grace, Oh! Saviour To put off in might, Deeds and dreams of darkness For the robes of light; And to live as lowly, As Thyself with man, So to rise in glory.

When thou comest again." The President, in his oral report, failed to notice a new field of action of the Association, deeply important and interesting. He cannot account for this, excepting by the found himself on that occasion, surrounded, of all the Protestant Churches in our city, the law, with one exception, and that absent brother, an earnest sympathiser with the organization, indeed, a member of it. In the excitement incident to the fact, he quite forgot his memoranda, and did not refer to the Firemen's Prayer Meeting, held every Sunday in the Hall of the Friendship Fire Company. It should have been brought prominently forward. Company, and has been continued without interruption to this time. The attendance is large, and the interest decided. At no point in the city does there assemble a more attentive congregation. The issue is in God's hand, and there it can safely be left. May the day soon come, when every Firemen's Hall shall be vocal to His praise!

Fowle introduced to the meeting, Rev. to double the size of the building by adding needed in housekeeping.
